

“I refuse to pay for an ATM that doesn’t pay for itself.”

-Jim Goetz, Chairman and CEO, Security First Bank

As chairman of a successful North Dakota community bank, I don't take service lightly. Whether it means tailor-made financial solutions, competitive prices or getting to know customers on a first-name basis, nothing builds loyalty like consistently great service. I've found the best way to deliver that service is to hire smart, reliable people and let them do their jobs.

The same goes for our ATMs. That's why we've used Triton since the mid-90s. They pay for themselves because they just keep working. Even upgrades and repairs are simple. The fact that they're so inexpensive is just a bonus. The real value is in the consistent, dependable service they provide for our customers. I don't settle for less in our bank offices. So why would I settle for less in an ATM?
